

Homeschooling High School Seminar

Hosted by: First Class Kitsap County

“Thank you so much for a great seminar. We learned so much, but most importantly feel more relaxed about homeschooling through the high school years. It’s easy to get anxious about the unknown and now that anxiety is gone.” March, 2009 seminar attendee

Continually updated - “Information packed!”

- Why homeschooling leads to admissions to the best colleges
- Credits, transcripts, portfolios, diplomas, graduation
- Tackling those higher level subjects
- GED, Running Start, teens in the workplace
- “Quit School and Get a Real Life and Education”, G. Llewellyn
- Transitioning out of the “system”
- There is meaningful work without college
- Socialization in the real world
- Handouts, take-home resources, and more

Presenter: Janice Hedin, longtime homeschool parent and advocate, has two children, ages 31 and 28 whose first day of “school” was college. She encourages homeschoolers through workshops at conferences and support groups and received the Lifetime Achievement Award in 1997 from the Washington Homeschool Organization. She is co-presenter of the parent-qualifying course, OPTions for Parent Teachers.
